Peterborough's history is alive and well in the City and County of Peterborough. Membership in the Historical Society keeps you informed and provides you a richer engagement with our history.

The Peterborough Historical Society is one of Ontario's oldest historical societies and has played a key role in preserving and promoting the social and cultural history of Peterborough and County. Our goal is to generate public interest in local history through education and engagement in a variety of activities, including publications, monthly speaker's forums, panels, and workshops. The Society owns and operates Hutchison House Museum, a living history museum with exhibits and programs that illuminate the social history of Peterborough.

The PHS is a not-for-profit organization that relies upon membership fees and donations to support its programs and services.
